Teacher: audioscript 2.07

Transcribed from the audio file.

A Healthy competition is the key to success as far as I'm concerned. When we compete with others, we strive to do better, and that leads to development, development of ourselves and development of other things. The result is that we consistently push our limits as humans and improve our lives.

B For me, competition is more about competing with yourself than with others. I mean, if you spend time and energy on trying to do better than you've done before, you win. But if you spend all your time and energy focusing on others, you end up losing. It's problematic because you lose sight of your own goals.

Teacher: answer key

Keep these frames away from students: move them before sharing the board.

1B: a driving challenge (gymkhana / head-to-head racing); Mist vs Ryan Thomas, helped by Becky Evans and Ryan Taylor.

2A-2B: check with the video.

3B: 1C 2H 3D 4F 5A 6B 7E 8G

3C: 1 take 2 inside 3 best 4 kick 5 take 6 come

4C (order heard): 1 … (just) leads to 2 The result is that 3 … is more about … than 4 If you …, you end up 5 It's problematic because

Writing 1A: failing his first driving test; positive overall. 1B: 1c 2a 3d 4b

Teacher: lesson plan

Aim: students talk about competing, debate whether competition is good, and plan a written reflection. 90 min, B2-C1.

8 min 1 Warm-up: 1A questions + competitiveness scale

7 min 2 Preview: 1B programme info, glossary, predict the winner

15 min 3 View: 2A gist, 2B detail (6 questions)

15 min 4 Vocabulary: 3A know/guess, 3B match meanings A-H

10 min 5 Use it: 3C gap-fill questions, 3D pair speaking + bonus question

10 min 6 Listen: 4A scale, 4B audio 2.07 opinions, 4C number key phrases

15 min 7 Debate: 5A-5C groups of four, 10-min timer, strongest argument

10 min 8-9 Reflect & write: 6A discussion, model text, 1B order, plan on stickies; write at home

What I changed vs the book: added a competitiveness scale and a 4th warm-up question; glossary + prediction vote before the video; meanings A-H to match instead of only a dictionary check; a bonus question to write; contexts go on a scale; a timed debate format with roles; topic order, phrase bank, paragraph plan and checklist for the reflection.

SPEAKOUT B2+ · UNIT 2D · ADULTS

2D Gassed Up - a driving challenge

Challenge

Watch two celebrities race head-to-head, learn the language of competing, debate whether competition is good for us and reflect on a challenge of your own.

VOCABULARY	competing
SPEAKING	a debate
WRITING	a reflection

Mist vs Ryan: who will rise to the challenge?

Ready, steady, go!

head-to-head

UNLOCKING ENGLISH with Val

1 Warm-up: push yourself

1A In pairs, discuss the questions. Then drag your dot onto the scale: how competitive are you?

1 When was the last time you challenged yourself?

2 What did you do? Why?

3 What happened?

4 Would you do it again?

my last challenge?

← drag a dot, write your name

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10

not competitive at all — I always want to win!

2 Preview: Gassed Up

1B Read the programme information. What is the challenge? Who undertakes it? Then predict: who wins?

Gassed Up

With the help of expert driver Becky Evans and petrolhead Ryan Taylor, rapper Mist goes head-to-head with actor Ryan Thomas in a driving challenge in his hometown of Birmingham.

the track in Birmingham

petrolhead = a person who loves cars head-to-head = one against one, directly gymkhana = fast driving around cones and obstacles

Who will win? Put a dot.

Mist | Ryan

3 View: the race

2A Watch the clip. What is the driving challenge called? Who wins? 2B Watch again and answer the questions.

BBC video clip - 2D
paste the video here

2A What is the challenge called? Who wins?

neck and neck!

1 When did Ryan Thomas become interested in cars?

2 What does gymkhana involve?

3 What prompts Ryan to select his car?

4 What helped Ryan to prepare in a day?

5 How will the winner of the race be determined?

6 How did both Ryan and Mist feel about the race results?

4 Vocabulary: competing

3A Read the extracts. Tick the ones you know, guess the rest. 3B Drag each meaning (A-H) under its swatch.

inside and out
1 ... the mental challenge of knowing the unmarked course inside and out.

take in 2 You've got a lot to take in in one day ...

rounds
3 Head-to-head racing ... three rounds.

best of three
4 Best of three wins.

kick in 5 The nerves are kicking in now.

neck and neck
6 They were neck and neck after two laps.

come down to 7 ... so it all came down to that one last run.

take it (well)
8 I love Mist. He took it [the win] really well.

A start to have an effect

B exactly level in a race

C know every detail of sth

D one stage of a competition

E be decided mainly by one thing

F win two games out of three

G react calmly to a result

H understand and remember new info

5 Use it: your questions

3C Complete the questions with the correct form of words from Ex 3A. 3D In pairs, ask and answer.

take | inside | best | kick | take | come

1 If you lose, do you _____ it well or badly?

2 What place do you know _____ and out?

3 What game do you know where the winner is decided in the _____ of three rounds?

4 How long before a competition do your nerves usually _____ in?

5 When was the last time you had a lot of information to _____ in? Why?

6 What does winning _____ down to? Is it skill, or luck?

Bonus: write one more question with a phrase from 3A

What sport do you know inside and out?

6 Listen: two opinions

4A How competitive are people in these contexts? Drag them onto the scale. 4B Listen (2.07); A or B? 4C Listen again and number the key phrases.

car ownership | the gym | home and garden | school | technological devices | the workplace

relaxed — very competitive

▶ 2.07
Opinion A
I agree: put a dot

▶ 2.07
Opinion B
I agree: put a dot

KEY PHRASES

1 If you ... , you end up ...

2 ... is more about ... than ...

3 It's problematic because ...

4 The result is that ...

5 ... (just) leads to ...

7 Debate: others or yourself?

5A Groups of four. Pair A argues for opinion A, Pair B for opinion B: an argument and a counterargument. 5B Debate using the key phrases. 5C Which arguments were the strongest?

Timer: 10 mins — Start

PAIR A: compete with others

Argument	Counterargument
Competition pushes us to do better.	But it can make people stressed.

PAIR B: compete with yourself

Argument	Counterargument
You focus on your own goals.	But without rivals you may get lazy.

1 min Pair A opens | 1 min Pair B opens | 4 min open debate | 1 min each pair sums up

The strongest argument was...

My real view:

8 Reflect: read the model

6A Discuss the questions. Then read: what is the writer reflecting on? Does he feel positive or negative about it?

1 How often do you reflect on something you have done?

2 What kind of things do you tend to reflect on? Why?

3 Why might it be useful to reflect after a challenging task?

4 Can you think of professional or educational situations where reflections might be used?

Last month, I took my driving test for the first time. I'd had around thirty driving lessons, but I'm not the most natural driver in the world, so applying for and taking my test was a slight risk. However, I really wanted to be on the road and independent before the summer. Sadly, I failed.

In the run-up to the test, I'd practised the key skills that I had to demonstrate - parking, reversing and, of course, the emergency stop. I'd taken two driving lessons that week and I'd also gone out in my mum's car with her or my dad by my side every day. I drove around different parts of the town several times, so I knew the roads inside and out. All this gave me confidence.

What didn't help were the nerves I suffered on the day. They kicked in as soon as I woke up and just got worse as the day wore on, but I did nothing to try to combat them. Looking back, it all came down to that. The nerves caused me to lose concentration at times and as a result I made too many mistakes for the examiner to pass me.

All in all, I'm pleased that I gave the test a try and got to the end without passing out! I certainly learnt more about myself and how nerves can affect my performance. Next time, I'll definitely implement some techniques for dealing with my anxiety before the test, so I can maintain my focus and show off my driving skills adequately. Then, hopefully, I'll pass.

9 Write: your reflection

1B Put the topics in the order the writer uses them (1-4). 2A Plan your own reflection. 2B Steal useful phrases. 2C Write!

a What went well.

b What was learnt for similar future situations.

c What the challenge was and what the goal was.

d What went less well.

Useful phrases

In the run-up to the ..., I'd ...

All this gave me confidence.

What didn't help was/were ...

They kicked in as soon as ...

Looking back, it all came down to ...

As a result, ...

All in all, I'm pleased that ...

Next time, I'll definitely ...

Your plan: one sticky per paragraph

1 The challenge and my goal

2 What went well

3 What went less well

4 What I learnt for next time

Check before you hand in: 4 paragraphs · past perfect for background (I'd practised) · 3+ phrases from 3A · 180-220 words

Finish line!
Exit ticket: one phrase you will use this week

Homework: write your reflection (Writing Bank, p. 105)